Trends in Housing for People with Mental Illnesses

- Shift away from large congregate facilities toward permanent supportive housing (PSH)
- Shift away from transitional housing to PSH
- Shift away from “housing readiness” toward housing first
- Mental health agencies becoming housing developers, partners, and/or coordinators
- Linkages to employment
PSH definition

- Housing
  - Permanent: Not time limited, not transitional;
  - Affordable: For people coming out of homelessness; and
  - Independent: Tenant holds lease with normal rights and responsibilities.

- Services
  - Flexible: Designed to be responsive to tenants’ needs;
  - Voluntary: Participation is not a condition of tenancy; and
  - Tenancy-Focused: Focus is on maintaining housing stability.
PSH is appropriate for

People who face persistent obstacles to maintaining housing, such as chronic mental illness or substance abuse, developmental disabilities, or chronic medical issues.

People with mental illnesses or co-occurring disorders who

- But for housing cannot access and make effective use of treatment and supportive services in the community; and

- But for supportive services cannot access and maintain stable housing in the community.
Benefits of PSH

- Increases ability to access and maintain housing
- Fosters self-sufficiency
- Improves access to health services
- Encourages peer and community support
Benefits of PSH

- reduces use of
  - Hospital inpatient care for medical and psychiatric conditions
  - Hospital emergency room visits
    - especially for the most frequent users of ER
  - Psychiatric emergency and institutional care
  - Residential mental health & substance abuse treatment
  - Jails and prisons
  - Emergency shelters
Housing Types for PSH

- Single project sites - all residents requiring supportive services

- Scattered site - mostly with private landlords-mostly with rent subsidies like Section 8, Shelter Plus Care

- Master leased - usually service agency leases some or all units within a building and subleases to tenants

- Set aside units – usually service agency has an agreement to fill some units within a building with their clients who directly hold a lease
PSH Service Models: Housing First

- Direct placement of people who are chronically homeless into permanent housing
- Supportive services offered and readily available but participation not required to be housed
- Supportive services focused on maintaining housing
- Low demand approach that accommodates substance use so that relapse does not result in housing loss
PSH Service Models: Housing First

- Use of assertive outreach to engage and offer housing to chronically homeless people

- Continuing effort to provide case management and hold housing even if tenants are absent for short periods

- Particularly appropriate for the most challenging to serve people including those with mental illness and co-occurring substance abuse
PSH Service Models: Intensive Services

- Direct placement of people from shelters or institutional settings (jails, state hospitals, residential treatment facilities) into PSH

- Generally appropriate for people who both need and want more intensive treatment interventions

- Combination of services designed to help tenants maintain housing stability and services related to other elements of recovery
Providers of PSH

- Most often partnerships where owner of housing may be:
  - Mental Health Service Provider
  - Homeless Service Provider
  - Non-profit Affordable Housing Provider
  - Public Housing Authority
  - Private Developer and Private Landlord
